Evan Fontaine Asks $1,000,000 In Suit Against Young Whitney

Repeated Promises to Marry Alleged in Complaint.

Dancer Still Willing to Wed, Lawyer Declares.

CORNELIUS VANDERBILT WHITNEY.

EVAN BURROWS FONTAINE.

By the Associated Press.
SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., August 12.—One million dollars' damages is sought by Evan Burrows Fontaine, a dancer, in a suit for breach of promise against Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, son of Harry Payne Whitney, according to the statement of Miss Fontaine's attorney, Charles Firestone, during the argument of a motion in the case before Justice Henry V. Borst here today.

It was expected that the complaint in the case would be filed this afternoon, but the papers arrived at the county clerk's office too late and as a result they were not made public.

Brief details of the allegations made by Miss Fontaine were given, however, by Attorney Firestone, during the argument of a motion to show cause why the defendant should not be compelled to accept the complaint. Judge Borst made no decision but gave attorneys until September 2 to file additional affidavits.

Wedding Day Was Fixed.
In his argument Attorney Firestone stated that on October 28, 1920, Whitney promised to marry Miss Fontaine, after a courtship which commenced about May 25, 1919. The wedding day, he said, was fixed for October 31, three days after the alleged promise was made, but the marriage never took place.

These statements were contained in a manuscript presented to Judge Borst by Miss Fontaine's attorney with the sole remark: "This is our complaint." The complaint was not made verbally in court nor were other than the written statements made.

During the time of the alleged courtship, said the attorney, Whitney made repeated promises to marry Miss Fontaine, who, he said, later gave birth to a son. Miss Fontaine is still willing to marry Whitney, he said. He told the court the case was started a year ago but no attempt was made to serve the papers until recently when the defendant refused service.

Wanted to Drop Case.
LOS ANGELES, Calif., August 12.—Miss Evan Burrows Fontaine, dancer, said today she knew a breach of promise suit brought in her name against Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney was in contemplation, but that she did not know it had actually been filed.

"I wanted to drop the case entirely," Miss Fontaine said, "but my attorney advised against that."

Mrs. Florence Fontaine, mother of Evan, was scheduled to arrive here today over the Union Pacific railroad, bringing with her Evan's child, but the train on which they were reported to be traveling was stalled by the railroad walkout on the Nevada desert.

Noted as Weird Dancer.
NEW YORK, August 12.—Evan Burrows Fontaine, dancer, was noted as a weird dancer.

MANY SOCIETIES JOIN IN PROTECTION OF ART

George Creel Heads Committee to Oppose Narrowmindedness Blamed on Movies.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, August 12.—Formation of a joint committee for the promotion and protection of art and literature, composed of members representing theatrical and literary societies, was announced today by George Creel, chairman.

"The purpose of the committee is to unite and direct every possible force in the fight against censorship," said Mr. Creel, "no matter what the form or manifestation. The spirit of narrow-minded intolerance, proceeding from the motion picture has commenced to threaten the drama and literature and, unless resisted, it is only a question of time when every product of the creative instinct will be called upon to run a gantlet of blades."

The organizations represented on the committee are: The Actors' Equity Association, American Federation of Musicians, Authors' League of America, Cinema Camera Club, Guild of Free Lance Artists, Motion Picture Directors' Association, printing trades union, Screen Writers' Guild and American Dramatists.
